Justin,

If you call my mom or dad will most likely be the ones to answer. Please just tell who you are and ask to speak with me. They may be hesitant to let you, and if they don't let you then if I am still able to get on the computer, maybe we can communicate by email. Just letting you know that I am not able to get on the computer anytime. My parents have put passwords on it to keep me from getting on it, but I figured one out. But they are not aware of this. Just explaining a little of my situation with you, so you know what to expect.
